No. CJ-20-141

TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER

Plaintiff has moved for a temporary restraining order, enjoining Defendant from making any public comment, posting, announcement, or distribution of information or sharing of her opinion on this matter of any sort.

The court finds that it clearly appears from Plaintiff's evidence that Plaintiffs will be irreparably harmed by Defendant continuing to make public comment, posting, announcement, or distribution of information or sharing of her opinion on this matter of any sort. Plaintiff has made a prima facie case, showing the Defendant has made public comment, posting, announcement, and distribution of information and sharing of her opinion on this matter in a way which has caused damage to the Plaintiff and will continue to cause damage to the Plaintiff. Plaintiff has shown that, through counsel, they have attempted to contact the Defendants prior to this order, without success, and the court finds under these circumstances that a temporary restraining order should be granted without notice to prevent further irreparable injury to the Plaintiffs in the interim before the court is able to hear the motion for temporary injunction.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, ADJUGED AND DECREED that Defendant Cheryl Hoover, her agents, servants, and all persons acting by and under her authority or in concern with her are restrained from making any public comment, posting, announcement, or distribution of information or sharing of her opinion on this matter of any sort. Such restraining order to remain in full force and effect until the 19th day of November, 2020 at 10 o'clock a M., at which time defendant will be given an opportunity to show cause why the foregoing restraining order should not be made a temporary injunction, in the courtroom of the undersigned judge.

THIS TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER IS ISSUED at 10:06 o'clock A.M. on the 12 day of November, 2020
